Affirmation of Commitment:

I understand that in order for our family to participate in NBHSA Tuesday Co-op, we must fulfill the following requirements.

- Understand that NBHSA is a Christ-centered interdenominational non-profit support group of home schooling families and functions as such.
- Understand that the NBHSA Tuesday Co-op is a parent-student-teacher cooperative, and your involvement with your student’s education does not end with enrollment at the Tuesday Co-op. This includes working a minimum of two hours per month in the Co-op at designated jobs (not teaching a class or co-op).
- Submit the completed registration form.
- Agree to pay: (1) Monthly tuition for classes. Full monthly tuition is due regardless of student’s attendance. If a teacher is absent, credit will be given. (2) Any materials/lab fees per class or co-op, which are not part of the class tuition. (3) Fee for missed parent work hours.
- Agree to secure own textbooks, required books, and supplies necessary for the student’s success in the class.
- Agree to donate: (1) $3 per child per month for First Baptist Church of Mims to offset costs of building usage, janitorial services, and utility expenses, and (2) $5 per family per semester to NBHSA to offset supplies.
- Understand that class size is limited. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. When classes are filled, students will be placed on a waiting list as requested by the parent.
- Understand that a teacher has the right to decide whether the student will be able to participate in a class.
- Agree to review the 2011/12 Tuesday School Rules with your student and abide by them.

I affirm that my family has read and understands the rules and policies of the NBHSA Tuesday Co-op and we agree that we will abide by them.
